By the court

Hon'ble Irshad Hussain, J.

Heard Sri Pankaj Purohit, learned counsel for the applicant and learned A.G.A.

This is a murder case. There is circumstantial evidence of last seen as well as recovery of the weapon of assault and the clothes which the applicant-accused was wearing at the time of the occurrence and these were blood-stained. The circumstance of last seen has significance in view of the fact that the applicant–accused and the deceased were seen together on the day of occurrence itself. From this it is not a fit case for bail. The bail application is rejected.
